

Kathy H. Colangelo
CIC, ASLI
Senior Vice President

Kathy Colangelo is a senior vice president at Brown & Brown and executive vice president of Brown & Brown's Wholesale Brokerage segment. She leads the binding authority MGA business and regional brokerage operations, which includes more than 25 brands across the country and in select global markets.

Kathy started her insurance career in operations working with budgets, acquisitions and accounting. Later she worked in several large retail insurance agencies until she found her home on the wholesale side of insurance.

In 1997, Kathy joined Brown & Brown via the wholesale operation of Roehrig & MacDuff where she was president. In 2008, Roehrig & MacDuff merged with Hull & Company, LLC in Tampa, and Kathy took on a regional leadership role with Hull & Company before being named to the Brown & Brown Senior Leadership Team in 2012.

Kathy has a true passion for the insurance industry and believes it is vital to always continue learning, growing and giving back to others as they enter the industry. She regularly mentors rising professionals and has served on many carrier councils, the Florida Surplus Lines Association Board and was most recently on the AAMGA Board and WSIA Board.

Kathy is a licensed Florida surplus lines agent, has a business degree from Samford University with an emphasis in finance and management and holds CIC and ASLI designations.

Kathy believes in living life to the fullest and enjoys time with her family, golf, travel, being on or near the water, reading, sports of all kinds and she is an avid Tampa Bay Bucs, Rays and Lightning fan. She and her husband, Eric, have two children and three grandchildren. Kathy's nonagenarian dad is her ultimate hero and mentor.
